

Dear Prospective Student,

Congratulations on your admission to the University of Washington!

Now that you are one step closer to joining our graduate community, the Office of Graduate Student Equity & Excellence \(GSEE\) and your department cordially invite you to participate in our 2022 Virtual Visit Days on Thursday, March 31 and Friday, April 1, 2022.

GSEE's Virtual Visit Days will allow you to connect with current graduate students of color and GSEE staff. You can gather information about graduate school at the UW and ask questions regarding experiences, financial aid, cultural resources, and much more!

To register for our 2022 Virtual Visit Days events, please contact your Graduate Program Advisor (GPA) or Graduate Program Coordinator (GPC) and register here by Monday, March 28, 2022.*

More on GSEE:

GSEE, a division of the UW Graduate School, works to promote greater access to graduate studies for students of color and underrepresented students, and encourages all students, faculty, and staff to help maintain a diverse and welcoming climate that benefits the entire University community. To achieve these goals, GSEE:

- Participates in departmental outreach and recruitment efforts
- Administers various scholarships, grants and fellowships
- Sponsors a variety of forums to provide a supportive and enriching environment for all

To learn more about GSEE and Virtual Visit Days, feel free to contact GSEE at uwgsee@uw.edu. We are very eager to meet and welcome you to the Pacific Northwest!

Warm regards,

Carolyn W. Jackson, Ph.D.
